I am a long-time photoshop user and designer. I have been using photoshop for well over 20 yrs. I can't say I have had many problems with performance, although I can understand that many people are complaining about the bugs. I still love it though. There is no doubt it is the best for photo editing, I don't think any other app would even come close. So much in fact, and I have been contacted by other photo editors who have chosen to use photoshop to round out their programs. I guess its what I would say is a staple of the industry, in case you don't like it though I would say maybe try Microsoft word or even another photo editor that does a little bit more.

Thanks for all the hard work sharon I had the same problems as sharon. I did an installation package and ran into a HUGE problem. Don't ever use installer! Installed is for newbies. I was sick, just got out of the hospital and my new computer work email wouldn't take me to my googler. Took me days (as I am not techy, but a graphic artist). Like sharon, I ran EVERYTHING using cs5. I did hundreds of 10 hour days for a 3 YEAR project. I still have the HP laptop 5 years later and it is a chore to even use the thing for anything. After all, is the product still worth $800 for the software without the hardware? I also have new hardware, but that's what irresponsibility vendors like dell and toshiba want you to do. Oh, also, it's not 8, it's 7 as ios7 just came out. I did an uninstall and re-install. No difference. This is 99% of all photo software. Most or all of it will be one of these absurd $800 packages walled on PC software. I have tried numerous other editors and they are all clean. I don't know if that tells you anything other than I am not a tech person, but it does mean that my photo work is not worth much. Make musician's music. Help them create visual songs. For me, it's done. I can't even use it for my own videos. Same with similar software, but spotify for music is $15 a month! Buy it if you like the product. I can't find any articles on dell's new Ubuntu for the toshiba netbook. Keyboard is not being recognized. I know. I tried everything that I could find and it failed. I am now ENCOURAGED to find something that I can't use! You are raising the bar again. You are selling OS instead of product.
